Human Trafficking

STOP EXPLOITATION STOP HUMAN TRAFFICKING

If you suspect that you or someone you know may be a victim of human trafficking:

- Call the National Human Trafficking Hotline: 1-888-373-7888 for free and confidential help in 170 languages. - or -
- Text HELP or INFO to 233733

Victims are coerced and exploited in the labor industry or sex trade for someone else's gain.

This is happening across New York State.

Some victims of exploitation may:

- Be unusually anxious, fearful or submissive
- Work unusually long hours
- Be in debt to an employer
- Be paid below minimum wage or not at all
- Live and work in the same place
- Perform commercial sex for another person's profit

What is Human Trafficking?

The illegal trade or use of a person against their will for the purpose of forced labor or sexual exploitation.
