SNAP Benefits and YOU!

Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) helps low-income people buy nutritious food.

Each year, many people - just like you - help make ends meet by using SNAP.

Everyone who is eligible is entitled to receive SNAP - and you will not be taking benefits away from anyone else. SNAP is here to help everyone who qualifies!

You may also be eligible even if you own a house and/or a car, have money in the bank, or live with others.

Once you qualify for SNAP benefits, you will receive a plastic card that looks like a debit card which allows you to buy groceries at participating stores, farmers' markets, and other locations.

How Do I Know If I Am Eligible?

SNAP uses your income and certain verified expenses, such as shelter costs and medical expenses, to determine your eligibility and benefit amount.

You may qualify for SNAP even if you work, receive Social Security, Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and/or retirement benefits.

Five Common SNAP Myths

Myth: SNAP (food stamps) is a welfare program.

Truth: SNAP is a nutrition program that helps people buy healthy food when money is tight.

Myth: Applying for SNAP is complicated, the application is too long.

Truth: It has never been easier to apply for SNAP! You may apply online at myBenefits.ny.gov, by mail, fax, or in person at your local Department of Social Services or New York City Human Resource Administration Center. Call 800-342-3009 for the office nearest you.

Myth: You must go to the SNAP office for an interview.

Truth: Most people are interviewed over the phone when applying for SNAP. In fact, you may select an Authorized Representative to apply and be interviewed on your behalf. With your permission, this person may even purchase food for you with your SNAP benefits!

Myth: You do not receive credit for medical and prescription drug bills when your SNAP benefit is calculated.

Truth: Let your worker know if you have medical expenses that are paid out of pocket; it may increase your SNAP benefit amount.

Myth: Other people will know I use SNAP benefits.

Truth: People who get SNAP benefits get a plastic card to use at the grocery store. By running the card through a machine at the store check out, no one will be aware you are paying with SNAP benefits.
