Dear Food Stamp Recipient:

There will be changes to some items used to figure the amount of food stamps a household gets. These changes are due to changes in Federal law and changes in New York State policies.

The standard of Maximum Food Stamp Benefits (known as the Thrifty Food Plan or "TFP") has increased. These changes may increase the amount of food stamps you get. The changes will take place beginning with your October 2008 Food Stamp benefits.

Look at Chart # 1 below. The dollar amount shown under your household size is the largest increase you could get in your monthly food stamps based on the Maximum Food Stamp Benefit change only. For example, if you are a food stamp household of two, your monthly food stamp benefits, beginning in October, could increase by as much as $25.00. The actual increase will depend on your circumstances.

CHART # 1
HOUSEHOLD SIZE	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Maximum Amount of Food Stamp Increase	$14	$25	$37	$46	$55	$66	$73	$83	$93	$103

The Standard Deduction has increased to $144 for households with 1-3 persons and has increased to $147 for households of four persons, to $172 for households of five persons and to $197 for households of six or more persons. The Food Stamp Maximum Excess Shelter Deduction is increasing to $446.

The Standard Utility Allowance (SUA) amount has not changed. However, many households that live in subsidized housing with heat included in the rent will be eligible, this year, to receive a $1.00 HEAP benefit which will qualify the household for the full SUA. These changes may increase the amount of food stamps you get. The changes will take place beginning with your October 2008 Food Stamp benefits. A typical household of three earning $691.00 a month and living in subsidized housing with heat included in the rent would receive an additional $96.00 in monthly food stamp benefits.

Many households that live in certain Congregate Care and other Group Home situations also will be eligible to receive a $1.00 HEAP benefit which will qualify the household to have the full SUA applied. These changes may increase the amount of food stamps you get. The changes will take place beginning with your October 2008 Food Stamp benefits. For example, a one-person household in this housing situation could receive an additional $80.00 in monthly food stamp benefits. The actual increase will depend on your circumstances.

The limits on the dependent care and child care deductions have been removed. Households will now be allowed to have the actual out of pocket dependent and child care costs applied to the Food Stamp budget. These changes may increase the amount of food stamps you get. The changes will take place beginning with your October 2008 Food Stamp benefits.

The Regulations which allow us to do this are 18 NYCRR 387.10, 387.12, 387.15 and 387.16.

Reporting Rules for Households that are Six-Month Reporters

Look at Chart # 2 below: The dollar amount shown under your household size shows the 130% income limit for your household, beginning October 1, 2008. If your household's total gross monthly income is greater than this amount, you must report this monthly amount to your social services district by phone, in writing, or in person within 10 days after the end of the calendar month. Your gross income is the amount of income before taxes and other deductions are taken out, not the amount you receive when you receive your check. Your total gross monthly income includes all income any member of your household receives during the calendar month.
